Good Samaritan Turns Things Around

In February this year Pope Francis visited the border of Mexico and USA and prayed a blessing on the asylum seekers on the other side. This attracted a lot of criticism. Donald Trump said that he did not believe Pope Francis understood what he called "the danger of the open border we have with Mexico." According to Trump, the miseries of Mexicans are not his concern and it should not be the concern of Americans. A lot of people agree with him. That is why he is getting such a big following. Trump is not proposing anything illegal. Securing the border and making it migrant proof is legitimate. But Pope Francis wanted to make a statement by visiting the border and blessing the undocumented masses of people. The Pope's point is that wealth and security of the Americans is not the best starting point of policy making for America. The best policy should have compassion to the misery of the broken people on the other side of the fence or road at the centre.

After the recent polling, our own politics is concerned that there is no clear majority for any political party to form a stable government. But we should be more concerned that Pauline Hanson's One Nation Party and similar parties are resurfacing. Such political developments are indicative of the direction many people in Australia are taking.

With this background, reading the parable of the Good Samaritan (Lk 10:25-37) should disturb the mind of any Christian. Jesus provides a new definition of neighbour in this story of the Good Samaritan. It is no longer a question of defining one's neighbour with relation to oneself at the centre of everything, but to find one's own position by starting from the 'other'. This is the way the Gospel turns things around.

So when the Pope blessed the unaccounted people on the other side of the wall between Mexico and USA, he was giving practical expression to the teaching of Jesus in the story of the Good Samaritan. The examples above may sound remote to us ordinary individuals. But in fact these politicians, like Pauline Hanson and Donald Trump, are voicing the mentality of their electorate. That means you and I are challenged to examine how we define our neighbour. Are we defining our neighbour just like the elite Jewish people who went to the other side of the road to avoid the bruised and battered man? Or are we prepared to step into the shoes of the marginalised and the down trodden in our pursuit of neighbours to care for?

The Priest and Levite in the story of the Good Samaritan also were people without blemish, because they did not break any law – religious or civil. Neither could they be accused of any crimes or sins. Yet they were very wrong in their religious life. The compassion and good will of the nameless Samaritan makes more sense than the learning and the lawful living of the Priest and the Levite. Therefore a good look into our lives only can reveal how self-centred we are in our religious life. Most of the time we too are in need of a conversion, in spite of our good living.

Next Sunday Mass at 9 AM at St Peter Chanel

There will be no Masses at 8.00am or 10.00am next Sunday.

Pilgrimage of Mercy - St Mary's Cathedral Holy Door

What is a Plenary Indulgence?

A Holy Year brings with it the chance for the faithful to gain a plenary indulgence. According to the Catechism of the Catholic Church 1471, an indulgence is: "...a remission before God of the temporal punishment due to sins whose guilt has already been forgiven, which the faithful Christian who is duly disposed gains under certain prescribed conditions through the action of the Church which, as the minister of redemption, dispenses and applies with authority the treasury of the satisfactions of Christ and the saints".

In other words, sins have an impact or effect on us which tends to linger, even when the sins have been completely forgiven by God. Part of that effect is what we call the "temporal punishment due to sins" - but God's great Mercy makes it possible, through His Church, for the holiness of Christ and the Saints to even cancel out that "temporal punishment." The Jubilee Indulgence is a plenary indulgence, which removes all of the temporal punishment due to sin.

How to obtain an indulgence during the Jubilee Year of Mercy in the Archdiocese of Sydney:

Make a pilgrimage through the Door of Mercy in St Mary's Cathedral and: Link your walking through this Holy Door with: The Sacrament of Reconciliation and attend Holy Mass and receive Holy Communion, and Reflect on God's Mercy, and: Make a Profession of Faith (Creed) and Pray for Pope Francis and his intentions. Prayers for the Pope's intentions are left to the choice of the faithful, but an "Our Father" and a "Hail Mary" are customary. One sacramental Confession suffices for several plenary indulgences, but a separate Holy Communion and a separate prayer for the Holy Father's intentions are required for each plenary indulgence.

Exceptions can be made by confessors for the sick and the homebound.

Indulgences can always be applied either to oneself or to the souls of the deceased, but they cannot be applied to other persons living on earth.

A Catechist was discussing the Ten Commandments with her five and six year olds. After explaining the commandment to 'Honour thy father and thy mother,' she asked, 'Is there a commandment that teaches us how to treat our brothers and sisters?' Without missing a beat, one little boy answered, 'Thou shall not kill.'
