PALM SUNDAY OF THE PASSION OF THE LORD - YEAR C

10 APRIL 2022

Is Your Life a Blessing to Others

Once in a homily to children, I described the martyrdom of a saint. At this some parents got up in arms, because they thought it is improper to speak of martyrdom and its horrors to children. They would have their children wool wrapped to protect them from the harsh realities of life. It is done with the good intention of them growing into a healthier and fuller life. Are the parents right? The truth of life is far from it. No wool wrapping would make life greater, healthier, or full like cross bearing. No life bears good fruits without sacrificial suffering born out of love for others. Today, as we commemorate the suffering of Jesus and his death on the cross, we are reminded of this great Gospel truth. It is not for nothing that we have a bruised and battered figure of Jesus hanging on the cross as the dominant icon in the church. Similarly, you would have an imposing icon of crucified Christ in the prayer place at your own home. After all the joy of Easter is celebrated at the end of a week of passion reminders.

In spite of all the brutality done to Jesus, he did not despair even in the agony of the Cross. On the contrary Jesus, as he carried his deathbed - the cross, to Calvary, was dispensing 'gifts' to the people around him. Because of Jesus, there was reconciliation between Herod the king of the Jews and Pilate the Roman Governor of Judea, who otherwise were arch enemies. They shuttled Jesus between them during the trial. But while they were judging Jesus to be a condemned criminal, God gifted them with the goodness of reconciliation. Jesus offered consolation to the weeping women. To his killers, Jesus gave forgiveness. He prayed to Father in Heaven, "Father forgive them, for they know not what they are doing." (Luke 23:35). To the criminal hanging on a cross by his side, Jesus said, "Truly I tell you, today you will be with me in paradise" (Luke 23:43). What a wonderful gift! The ridiculing crowd challenged Jesus saying, "If you are the King of the Jews, save yourself!" (Luke 23:37). Jesus did not respond to it, because saving himself was not what he came for. The Roman centurion at the cross was gifted with 'faith'. He praised God (Ref Luke 23:46-47). The crowd along the way were gifted with repentance. They returned home beating their breasts (Ref Luke 23:48). That means even in the worst of sufferings, Jesus was not self-centred. While his life was being sacrificed, Jesus kept on dispensing gifts to make their lives fuller and redeemed.

As you too have to endure sufferings in your own life, are you able to walk with Christ? Are you able to think of the good of others and spend your life for them in spite of your experience of rejection, ridicule, failures, and fragility? You become ideal disciples of Christ when your lives are a blessing to others. In the burdens of your life, can you see yourself being called to join Simon of Cyrene to help Jesus Carry the Cross?

ANTIPHONS & READINGS

Responsorial Psalm:

(R) My God, my God, why have you abandoned me?

1. All who see me deride me. They curl their lips, they toss their heads. 'He trusted in the Lord, let him save him; let him release him if this is his friend.' (R.)
2. Many dogs have surrounded me, a band of the wicked beset me. They tear holes in my hands and my feet. I can count every one of my bones. (R.)
3. They divide my clothing among them. They cast lots for my robe. O Lord, do not leave me alone, my strength, make haste to help me! (R.)
4. I will tell of your name to my brethren and praise you where they are assembled. 'You who fear the Lord give him praise; all sons of Jacob, give him glory. Revere him, Israel's sons.' (R.)

Gospel Acclamation Phil 2:8-9

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ, king of endless glory!

Christ became obedient for us even to death dying on the cross. Therefore God raised him on high and gave him a name above all other names.

Praise to you, Lord Jesus Christ, king of endless glory!

Communion Antiphon Mt 26:42

Father, if this chalice cannot pass without my drinking it, your will be done.

REFLECTIONS ON LK 22:14-23:56

Historical Context – Crucifixion

The Romans used crucifixion as a deterrent against insurrection and rebellion. Not only was it an agonising death it was usually a slow, drawn out death – taking days to die. Victims were always crucified in public settings; alongside main thoroughfares or on hilltops outside a city. The victims were left on the cross for weeks while birds and wild dogs ate their bodies. The idea of crucifixion was that nothing was left to bury as this was the ultimate domination and humiliation of the rebel. The account of Jesus dying within a few hours is very unusual.

Scriptural Context – One with the lost

Throughout the Gospel of Luke, Jesus is portrayed as not only the champion of the poor and outcast, but indeed being one with them. The witnesses to his birth in this gospel are lowly shepherds, not the wise men from the East. His parables and actions are addressed to the lost and the lowly. He eats with sinners and other outcasts – to the horror of Jewish leaders. Finally, at his death, Jesus is crucified as a criminal with other criminals. This gospel in particular addresses the message and ministry of Jesus to those on the margins of society.

Gospel Focus – Changing expectations

The early audience of the gospel accounts would have known exactly what was meant by crucifixion. It was an all too familiar reality for them as the Romans sought to suppress any suggestion of opposition to their rule. The early audience would have recognised that the account of Jesus' death and burial was not in keeping with their knowledge of what normally happened. They would have known that something special was being conveyed through this story. They would have known that the story of his death was only a prelude to the real story of Jesus' passion – his resurrection.

Just for Laughs

It was Palm Sunday but because of a sore throat, 5 year old Sammy stayed home from church with a babysitter. When the family returned home, they were carrying several palm fronds. Sammy inquired as to what they were for. 'People held them over Jesus' head as he walked by,' his father responded. 'Wouldn't you just know it?' Sammy complained, 'the one Sunday I don't go and he shows up.'

Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord; blessed is the King of Israel

From the discourse "On the Palm Branches" by Saint Andrew of Crete

Let us go together to meet Christ on the Mount of Olives. Today he returns from Bethany and proceeds of his own free will towards his holy and blessed passion, to consummate the mystery of our salvation. He who came down from heaven to raise us from the depths of sin, to raise us with himself, we are told in Scripture, above every sovereignty, authority and power, and every other name that can be named, now comes of his own free will to make his journey to Jerusalem. He comes without pomp or ostentation. As the psalmist says: He will not dispute or raise his voice to make it heard in the streets. He will be meek and humble, and he will make his entry in simplicity.

Let us run to accompany him as he hastens towards his passion, and imitate those who met him then, not by covering his path with garments, olive branches or palms, but by doing all we can to prostrate ourselves before him by being humble and by trying to live as he would wish. Then we shall be able to receive the Word at his coming, and God, whom no limits can contain, will be within us.

In his humility Christ entered the dark regions of our fallen world and he is glad that he became so humble for our sake, glad that he came and lived among us and shared in our nature in order to raise us up again to himself. And even though we are told that he has now ascended above the highest heavens – the proof, surely, of his power and godhead – his love for man will never rest until he has raised our earthbound nature from glory to glory, and made it one with his own in heaven.

So let us spread before his feet, not garments or soulless olive branches, which delight the eye for a few hours and then wither, but ourselves, clothed in his grace, or rather, clothed completely in him. We who have been baptized into Christ must ourselves be the garments that we spread before him. Now that the crimson stains of our sins have been washed away in the saving waters of baptism and we have become white as pure wool, let us present the conqueror of death, not with mere branches of palms but with the real rewards of his victory. Let our souls take the place of the welcoming branches as we join today in the children's holy song: Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord. Blessed is the king of Israel.
